HAMILTON WATCH COMPANY

RETIRED

John Fox, a plate department employee for 28 years, retired June 1.

As a degreaser, at one time John had the pleasure of working side by side with his son John Jr. His entire Hamilton career was spent in the Plate Department.

After he finishes painting his Millersville home, John and his wife, Mary, who will also retire soon, plan to do some traveling. They have four children and many grandchildren to visit, and, according to John, "none of them live too far away."

HAMILTON INDUSTRIAL TEAM TAKES ALL STATE MARBLES

The Hamilton Softball team "took home all the marbles" in winning the State Industrial Softball Tournament for the second year in a row.

The team earned the crown by beating runner-up Lords-of-Erie, 1-0, for the second time September 4, at Farnum Field. The squeaker was only the second defeat this season for the Lords-of-Erie, both at the hands of Hamilton.

Hamilton broke a pitcher's duel between its ace hurler, Harry Geraci of heat treating, and R. Kenny of Erie, by pushing across a run in the fourth inning via a hit and an error. Geraci was in perfect form as he fanned eight and didn't allow a walk in his fourth tournament victory.

Manager Sheldon Tout was presented the State trophy by John Keesey, assistant to the commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Softball Association. Manager Tout had high praises for his team, which finished second in the league and first in the playoffs. He said it was basically the same team that won the championship last year.

L. A. Butcher, Jr. Associate Editor

Louis A. Butcher, Jr. has been named associate editor of Timely Topics. He succeeds Jack Brubaker who has resigned because of an exceptionally busy schedule, including the presidency of the Hamilton Recreation Association.

timely TOPICS takes this opportunity to thank Mr. Brubaker for his past efforts.

Mr. Butcher is well qualified for the editorial assignment. As a personnel assistant, he is a participant in many employee activities, and as the holder of a degree in English literature from Franklin and Marshall College, he will be able to pursue an avocation—writing.

CORN AND DOGGIE ROAST

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heckendorn and their daughter, Barbara, seem to be doing what everyone does at a corn and doggie roast. Lad at the left is Billie Hardesty, son of William Hardesty. Eating action was at HRA's annual outing which was well attended, as usual.

The Wallace Athletic Association Team No. 1 captured first place in the 16-team North Haven Commercial Bowling League this past season. Seen here after the recent award meeting are: (l to r) Armond Carrano, Pete Jasinski, Frank Binder (Captain), Elmer Kurty and Carl Faraone. Substitutes who were not present when picture was taken were: Julio Conti, Jim Rennie and Joe Wasilewski.

At the June PAR presentation meeting 17 awards were distributed by E. P. Dolliver, vice president. Seated (from l) are Jack Barach, watch case casting and press supervisor (Birdie), W. F. Rossi, watch case production manager (Eagle), Z. N. Grana, chief engineer, (Birdie), and G. E. Sterner, watch case cost and production control manager (Birdie). An Eagle represents over $5,000 in savings, a Birdie between $1,000 and $5,000, and a PAR under $1,000 in savings.

All others in the photograph earned PAR awards except A. J. Killen (Birdie). Standing from l to r: S. J. Denya, flatware and holloware pack and ship supervisor, H. W. Richter, engineering, R. M. Engberg, personnel director, T. R. Berube, personnel, G. J. Denya, spinning and new lines and special projects supervisor, J. P. Wood, payroll, cost and budgets manager, G. F. Matyas, returned goods supervisor, E. P. Barber, watch case general manager, L. J. Stern, watch case jewelry, and A. J. Killen, production control manager.

A highlight of the meeting was the presentation of sterling goblets to Barber, S. Denya, Matyas and Wood in recognition of having won the triple awards: Par—Birdie—Eagle.

S. J. Pascion Observes 50th Anniversary

Stanley J. Pascion, sterling flatware trim, (2nd from left) recently observed his 50th anniversary with the company. He was presented with a certificate and a gift of silver by Elson P. Dolliver, vice president, with Fred J. Long (left), his supervisor, and Ralph H. Ives, his superintendent, looking on.

OUR COVER: Gil Childs prepares to sink a nine-footer while Ralph Moztian looks on and Jim Dunn holds the pin. Jim Weidensaul's Spectra team finished in first place with 297 total points. Bill Sprengle had the lowest average for the year—a 40.9—followed by Weidensaul's 41.1. Warren Harnish, whose round of 37 proved to be the lowest in match play for the season, was followed by Dick Weaver and Ken Shenk with 38's. The same officers who led the 80 man Hamilton league have been re-elected to serve next year: Dick Weaver, president; Curt Seitz, secretary; and Bob Frey, treasurer.
